

The image shows a page from an old manuscript with three staves of handwritten musical notation. The first staff contains a melodic line with various note values and rests. Below the first staff, the word "dispereas" is written in a cursive hand. The second staff continues the melody, featuring some double bar lines. The third staff also continues the melody. At the bottom of the page, the phrase "Necito dispereas" is written in a larger, more decorative cursive script.
